DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claim 13 has been amended. However, claim 13 will not be examined, since it is part of Group Ib, and pertaining to a non-elected group.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims 1-6, 9, 10, 17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fujisaki et al (US 5,746,268).

Fujisaki et al disclose the method of continuously casting metal by applying vibrating magnetic field to the molten metal. Vibrating the magnetic field by arranging electromagnets, each of which comprises an iron core and a coil wound over the iron core and applying AC current to the coil. The iron core either of individual single iron cores or comb shape iron core. The frequency of the AC current is between 0.1 to 60 hz. The AC and DC magnetic field are applied superimposed along the transverse width of the mold. The superimposed is applied from at least one pair of magnetic poles arranged to face each other above or below an ejection port of an immersion nozzle.

Fujisaki et al fails to disclose wherein the current is a single phase AC current.

However, Fujisaki et al disclose a two or more phase current to generate a magnetic field. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to provide a single phase, since either single phase or two or more phases only depends on the require voltage the system needs. It is expected that the system of applicant's invention only needs low voltage, therefore a single phase would be more effective and applicable.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 4/15/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's argument of the European patent, EP '515, is persuasive and have been removed from the rejection. However, Fujisaki et al is still applicable as a 103 rejection.

Applicant's argument to the Fujisaki et al's patent is not persuasive, since the Fujisaki et al disclose the claimed invention as claimed. Therefore, claims 1-6, 9, 10, 17, and 19 remain rejected.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
